

The 31st World Health Forum 2010 in KYOTO

2nd Dec. 2010

The 31st World Health Forum 2010 in KYOTO – For Women’s Healthy and Happy Future took place on November 25th. For over 25 years, this forum has brought together experts to share their research on food and health in 25 countries and 61 regions around the world in the hope of improving conditions for everyone with WHO’s cooperation.

The forum’s panel discussion features experts and well-known individuals from a wide range of areas. This year’s panelists included Kyoto University Vice-President Shuzo Nishimura, actress Mie Hama, President of University of KinDAI Himeji Hiroko Minami, Erica Angyal, the official nutritionist for Miss Universe Japan, and Yukio Yamori, President of the NPO World Health Frontier Research Center.

This year’s forum also featured a presentation by the Mukogawa Women’s University Affiliated High School Super Science Class Dietary Education Study Group. The group impressed participants with a detailed look at the dietary program at the university’s affiliated junior high and high schools.
