

Climate Champions' Meeting

December 16, 2009

Looking ahead to the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change in Copenhagen (COP 15) in December, British Council hosted the Foreign Secretary, David Miliband, and led a live video link-up between young climate champions in Kyoto and Edinburgh. Discussions focused on the urgent action on global warming and the role of young people. With an expectation of Post-Kyoto Protocol, this was a rare opportunity to bring together students in both cities who are passionate to ask questions and discuss.
